Chairman's Letter

It is with pleasure that Nexia Australia provides this 2018 Transparency Report for the benefit of our clients, prospective clients, regulatory bodies and our partners and staff.

This Transparency Report provides an overview on the structure of Nexia Australia and Nexia International and the governance framework in which we operate. In addition, this Report also outlines our quality control systems and the effectiveness of such systems, our quality control monitoring and our commitment to continuing professional education.

At 30 June 2018, Nexia Australia comprised the national network of six independent Chartered Accountancy firms located in seven locations -Adelaide, Brisbane, Canberra, Darwin, Melbourne, Sydney and Perth. All firms are members of Nexia International, a global accounting and consulting network whose domicile is located in the Isle of Man.

Each of the six independent firms in Australia conduct statutory audits through their respective audit entities. The Sydney member, through Nexia Sydney Partnership and Nexia Sydney Audit Pty Ltd and our Perth member, through Nexia Perth Pty Ltd, are required by Part 2M.4A of the Corporations Act 2001 to provide specific information under the Act due to both firms conducting audits of 10 or more significant entities. The remaining members of Nexia Australia have voluntarily included information in this Report in order that the national network is accurately conveyed.

It is imperative in our industry that all our Partners and Staff embrace the importance of quality in all our activities and it is pleasing to report that within Nexia Australia this goal is actively pursued and followed. Quality is not a measure at a particular point of time but it is a process which has to be continually repeated, monitored and where necessary improved.

In our case, quality service not only must meet this criterion in order to grow and sustain our business but also must meet the quality standards as set by our regulatory bodies and the broader business community.

This Report provides a clear message to Audit Committees and all our stakeholders of our commitment to quality and service that is a benchmark of Nexia Australia's philosophy and success.

Finally, I would like to thank all our Partners and Staff who work tirelessly to achieve high levels of quality and service in order to meet the needs of our clients and regulatory authorities.

Who we are

Overview of the Network

Each of the firms comprising the Nexia Australia network are mid-sized firms of accountants and business advisors providing a full range of accounting, auditing, taxation, corporate and specialist business advisory services to our clients.

From the beginning, our firms recognised that their role was much more than simply providing accounting, auditing and taxation compliance services. Our role was to become trusted business advisors that provide advice and services in many different areas of our client businesses.

We believe in strong business relationships and that is why our clients are guaranteed direct involvement by our Partners. This direct involvement ensures that material issues will be identified at an early stage and addressed in a practical and commercial manner. All Partners are supported by a team of enthusiastic and dedicated professionals and support staff with a broad range of qualifications and experience, the majority of whom are involved in the full time provision of client services.

Nexia Australia prides itself on being Agile, Accessible and Advancing which is the cornerstone of our service mandate.

In this Report reference to "Partner" refers to the equity and non-equity owners of Nexia Australia Network Partnerships, as well as the Directors of authorised audit companies and corporate entities in the Nexia Australia Network referred to in Section 3. The information contained in this Transparency Report relates to the transparency reporting year ended 30 June 2018.

Network structure and governance

Nexia International

Nexia Australia is a member firm of the Nexia International network.

Nexia International is a worldwide affiliation of independent auditors, business advisers and consultants. The key to Nexia's success is simple: its global representation with member firms ranking in the top ten in the world's major financial and economic centres. This positioning means that Nexia is able to provide a top quality service to its clients with international needs. At 31 December 2017, there were 25,000 Partners and professional staff serving our clients in 660 offices in over 120 countries. Global fee income for 2017 was US$3.62bn, and ranking Nexia International as the 9th largest international accounting and consulting network (International Accounting Bulletin World Survey, February 2018).

From its foundation to the present day, one of Nexia's greatest strengths has been the willingness of its independent firms to share their Partners' expertise and knowledge on behalf of the affiliation's clients.

Our clients naturally expect the highest standards of professional advice. All of our independent member firms apply strict procedures and standards and are subject to regular quality control reviews which must be met as a condition of continuing membership of Nexia International. All its member firms must belong to their local professional body. In addition, our specialist committees publish several professional publications and manuals – all contributing to the quality and international expertise of Nexia International.

Leadership Responsibilities for Quality within the Firm

Nexia Australia has an overriding commitment to quality. It is the ultimate responsibility of the Managing Partner of each firm to ensure that the quality assurance policies and procedures as outlined in the firms' Quality Control Manual are adhered to. The firm's Partners decide on all key matters regarding the firm and its professional practice.

The Partners of each firm accept responsibility for leading and promoting a quality assurance culture within their firm and for providing and maintaining the Quality Control Manual and all other necessary practical aids and guidance to support engagement quality.

Nexia Australia recognises the importance of quality in performing all client engagements. The mandatory status of ASQC 1 Quality Control for Firms that Perform Audits and Reviews of Financial Reports and Other Financial Information, and Other Assurance Engagements and APES 320 Quality Control for Firms is acknowledged and each firm affirms their intention to operate in a climate of quality, complying with ASQC 1 and APES 320. Specifically:

- All Partners and staff are expected to maintain a high level of quality in all assigned tasks and be fully conversant with the requirements of APES 110
- Partners acknowledge their responsibility for fostering and ensuring a culture of quality
- Quality will not be compromised by commercial considerations on assignments
- All staff members are required to consistently follow required procedures
- Training and mentoring are recognised as key components to ensuring quality is maintained
- Staff members are required to attend training relevant to their roles
- Each firm devotes sufficient resources for the development, documentation and support of its quality control policies and procedures
- Staff members' annual performance reviews include an appraisal of their demonstrated commitment to quality and ethics, their level of continuing professional development, adherence to the policies and procedures of the firm and the level of competence of the team member

Internal Quality Control System

Ethical Requirements

All Partners and staff of the firms of Nexia Australia are required to adhere to the fundamental principles of professional ethics as outlined in Chartered Accountants Australia & New Zealand's By-laws, Regulations, APES 110, miscellaneous professional statements and other standards issued by the Accounting Professional and Ethical Standards Board (APESB). All Partners and staff must maintain a high standard of personal conduct to avoid any possible damage to their personal reputation, Nexia Australia's reputation or that of the professional accounting body of which they are a member. All staff members are responsible for Nexia Australia's adherence to the ethical principles. If any staff members are concerned with a matter relating to non-adherence to Nexia Australia's ethical principles, they are encouraged to communicate these concerns to the Engagement Partner, Risk and Quality Control Partner or Managing Partner, as that staff member considers appropriate in the circumstances.

Acceptance and Continuance of Client Relationships and Specific Engagements

Nexia Australia acknowledges that client integrity and the ability of each firm to conduct the engagement competently and ethically are essential components of Nexia Australia's quality control system.

Each firm and its Partners accept new engagements and client relationships only after the Engagement Partner, based on a review process conducted by the (prospective) engagement team, has approved the acceptance of the engagement, in accordance with the firms' policies and procedures

All firms use established procedures to provide it with reasonable assurance that it identifies and assesses the potential sources of risk associated with a new client relationship or a specific engagement. Each firm will only tender for or accept new clients after assessing the acceptability of the client. The factors the firm will take into account include: :

- the actual and/or perceived integrity of the client
- the cultural fit of the client within the firm's practice areas
- the competence and capability of the firm to complete the engagement within the required timeframe
- ethical issues, with particular reference to any perceived independence and conflict of interest threats.

Human Resources

Human Resources is recognised as a critical success area for each of the firms. Accordingly, all Partners accept the ultimate responsibility for the quality of the work performed by personnel of the firm so as to be able to issue reports that are appropriate in the circumstances. Management of, and communication with, staff members is one of the major roles of Partners.

On an ongoing basis, each firm monitors their needs to ensure that the level of staff enables them to maintain current client levels and anticipated growth, turnover of personnel and retirements.

An appropriate Partner is allocated responsibility for all human resource issues. Human Resources leaders have the responsibility for:

- maintenance of human resource policies
- identifying required policy changes resulting from labour laws and regulations, and to remain competitive in the marketplace
- providing guidance and consultation on human resource related matters
- maintenance of performance evaluation appraisal systems
- as requested, recommending specific actions or procedures appropriate to the circumstance (that is, discipline, recruitment)
- scheduling of in-house professional development
- maintenance of personnel files (including annual declarations of independence, acknowledgement of confidentiality, and continuing professional development reports)
- development and delivery of induction training.

The Partners of each firm monitor the effectiveness of the recruitment program to ensure that the policies and procedures are being followed and that personnel needs are being met.

All firms are committed to ethical principles. Accordingly, adherence to ethical principles is an important component of all Human Resources procedures, including performance evaluation, promotion, and remuneration. Any personnel not adhering to the ethical principles will be counselled and where appropriate may be subject to disciplinary action.

Internal Quality Control System

Engagement Performance

Through established policies and procedures and its quality control system, Nexia Australia requires that engagements be performed according to professional standards and applicable regulatory and legal requirements. Nexia Australia's overall systems are designed to provide reasonable assurance that the firm and its Partners and staff adequately and properly plan, supervise, and review engagements and produce engagement reports that are appropriate in the circumstances.

To facilitate Partner and staff performance on engagements is consistent and according to professional standards and regulatory and legal requirements, Nexia Australia provides sample working paper templates for documenting the engagement process for clients. These templates are updated as required to reflect any changes in professional standards. Staff use these templates to document key facts, risks, and assessments related to acceptance or continuation of each engagement. Staff are encouraged to exercise professional judgment when modifying such templates to ensure that such matters are appropriately documented and assessed for each engagement in accordance with professional standards and each firm's policies.

Also available are research tools and reference materials; a quality control system and manual; appropriate industry standard software tools, including data and system access security; and guidance, training, and education policies and programs, including support for compliance with the professional development requirements of the accounting bodies in Australia.

When performing any engagement, all Partners and staff are required to:

- follow and adhere to their firms planning, supervision, and review policies
- use the firm's templates for file preparation, documentation, and correspondence, as well as its software, research tools, and the signing and release procedures appropriate for the engagement
- follow and adhere to the ethical policies of the profession and the firm
- perform their work to professional and firm standards with due care and attention
- document their work, analysis, consultations, and conclusions sufficiently and appropriately
- complete their work with objectivity and appropriate independence, on a timely and efficient basis, and document the work in an organised, systematic, complete, and legible manner
- ensure that appropriate consultations on difficult or contentious matters are undertaken and documented
- ensure that appropriate client communications, representations, reviews, and responsibilities are clearly established and documented
- ensure that the engagement report reflects the work performed and its intended purpose and is issued soon after the fieldwork is complete.

In addition to the engagement partner, an Engagement Quality Control Reviewer is appointed to audits of listed entities and other audit engagements assessed as having higher audit risk. The Engagement Quality Control Reviewer is responsible for discussing the significant judgments the engagement team made and the conclusions it reached with the Engagement Partner; reviewing the financial statements or other subject matter information and the proposed report; and considering whether the proposed report is appropriate in the circumstances.

Internal Quality Control System

Engagement Quality Review Process

Monitoring consists primarily of determining — through interviews, walk-through tests, and file inspections — whether, and to what extent, this control system is operating effectively. It also includes developing recommendations to improve the system, especially if weaknesses are detected or if professional standards and practices have changed. The overall objective of the monitoring process is to help improve the quality of engagements and in doing so, aims to enhance the credibility and integrity of Nexia Australia's brand.

Nexia Australia relies on every Partner and staff member at all levels to informally monitor and enforce quality, ethics, and professional and firm standards. This monitoring shall be inherent in every aspect of professional work. Partners and staff who are in a position to make decisions or oversee the work of others have a greater level of responsibility.

Nexia Australia will also consider any feedback received from the Chartered Accountants Australia and New Zealand's (CAANZ) and the Australian Securities and Investment Commission's (ASIC) practice inspection and licensing regime. However, this is not a substitute for the firm's own internal monitoring program. The Nexia International Technical Director may also elect to review the firm's quality control policies and procedures. Each firm is supportive of the reviews undertaken by Nexia International, the professional accounting bodies, the regulator and the National Accounting & Audit Technical Director's internal monitoring program.

The purpose of the monitoring program is to assist the firm in obtaining reasonable assurance that its policies and procedures relating to the system of quality control are relevant and operating effectively. The program shall also help ensure compliance with practice and regulatory review requirements.

The Nexia Australia Risk and Quality Control Committee has implemented monitoring and inspection processes to ensure selected engagements comply with applicable professional standards and legal obligations.

The system has been designed to provide Nexia Australia with reasonable assurance that significant and systemic breaches of policy and quality control are unlikely to occur or go undetected.

All Partners and staff must co-operate with the Reviewer, recognising that this individual is an essential part of the quality control system. Support of the Partners and Managers of the process and to reinforce the Reviewers' comments and findings is of particular importance.

Nexia Australia conducts compliance monitoring on a selection of individual engagements. Although it is desirable to select one or more completed and released engagements for each Engagement Partner at each inspection, the firm may choose to inspect a number of engagements annually, but will ensure that each Partner's files are selected on at least a cyclical basis. The inspection cycle spans a two-year period.

Risk and Quality Control Committee

The Nexia Australia member firms have established a Risk and Quality Control Committee, which include representatives of all Nexia Australia member firms and representatives of all divisions within Nexia Australia member firms. The responsibilities of this Committee include:

- developing, and annually updating, the Nexia Australia Quality Control Manual
- monitoring compliance with the approved Nexia Australia Quality Control Manual.

The monitoring process consists of three parts, namely:

- risk management and quality control for firms, including independence policies and procedures, as outlined in the Nexia Australia Risk Management Framework and the Nexia Australia Quality Control Manual
- quality control at the audit and assurance engagement level
- quality control at the non-assurance engagement level.

Access to technical support and consultations

The Nexia Australia Accounting & Audit Technical Director is employed by Nexia Australia and reports to the National Audit Committee and the Nexia Australia Board, thereby maintaining independence from individual offices. The Technical Director is not only responsible for maintaining Nexia's Quality Control and monitoring processes, but also provides a senior and experienced resource for technical consultations by member firms. The Nexia Quality Control Manual details the firm's consultation policies and dispute resolution mechanism, should differences of opinions arise.

Independence

Nexia takes its responsibilities regarding independence seriously. Partners and staff are reminded of the need to maintain independence throughout the engagement period for all assurance engagements, as set forth in and by:

- APES 110 Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants, specifically sections 290 and 291
- the Corporations Act 2001
- ASQC 1 Quality Control for Firms that Perform Audits and Reviews of Financial Reports and other Financial Information, and other Assurance Engagements
- ASA 220 Quality Control for an Audit of a Financial Report and Other Historical Financial Information.

Nexia Australia and each of the firms are responsible for the implementation, monitoring, and enforcement of policies and procedures designed to assist all Partners and staff in understanding, identifying, documenting, and managing independence threats and for the resolution of independence issues that arise prior to or during engagements.

All Partners and staff are required to review their specific circumstances for any independence threats or potential independence threats, and to inform the Firm Risk Manager of any such threats identified. Audit partners and staff are responsible for reporting potential threats to independence and conflicts of interest by:

- Completing engagement independence confirmations prior to the commencement, and immediately before completion, of assurance engagements;
- responding to conflict and independence check communications from the Firm Risk Manager;
- ensuring that all relationships and interests with audit and other assurance clients in their office have been provided to the Firm Risk Manager for recording in the independence registers;
- completing annual independence declarations.

If threats to independence cannot be eliminated or reduced to an acceptable level by applying appropriate safeguards, each firm shall eliminate the activity, interest, or relationship that is creating the threat, or refuse to accept or continue the engagement (where withdrawal is not prohibited by law or regulation). Instances of non-compliance with the independence requirements shall be reported to the Risk and Quality Control Partner.

All partners and staff within the Nexia Australia network complete an annual independence confirmation. The most recent internal monitoring of network-wide independence compliance was conducted as at 30 June 2018.

Independence Partner

The Independence Partner at each firm is the person delegated by the Managing Partner and/or firm Partners to be responsible for the independence processes and procedures with respect to:

- independence for assurance engagements
- conflict of interest for all engagements.

The Independence Partner is required to be consulted and respond to all matters related to ethics, including independence, conflict of interest, and privacy and confidentiality. The Independence Partner is responsible for, and must ensure an appropriate resolution of, independence threats that the Engagement Partner has not adequately resolved or reduced to an acceptable level.

The Independence Partner is also responsible for ensuring that the Firm Risk Manager has performed all independence procedures required by the firm.

Continuing Professional Education

Our Partners and staff are our greatest assets, and we are a 'learning organisation', so continued professional education is actively encouraged.

Professional Accounting Bodies

All Partners and staff members who are members of professional accounting bodies are required and supported to meet the training and development requirements of their professional bodies. Qualified staff are required to complete a minimum of 90 hours of formal training and up to 30 hours of non-structured training over a three year period, with at least 20 hours completed annually. Each firm monitors and reviews compliance with the relevant minimum professional education requirements.

Learning and Development Framework

A national Learning and Development Framework has been designed to outline skills, knowledge and competencies required for staff to perform their role effectively for their experience level.

The framework covers seven key excellence competencies which Nexia believes are fundamental skills and behaviours staff should demonstrate. They are client excellence, self development, achieving results, solution solving, team engagement, leadership and business growth.

The skills and behaviours that staff develop within the framework can form part of the structure for performance review discussions and can be used to set goals and objectives. The framework outlines the appropriate learning and development that Nexia provides both internally and externally for the 7 key excellence competencies. Each competency has an outcome.

Study Policy

All firms support the undertaking of both the CA and CPA study programs for staff. Whilst we do not insist on the successful completion of either of these qualification programs as a pre-requisite for ongoing employment, we encourage their completion as they provide further professional development for the participant and we believe they are essential qualifications to hold for long-term career advancement.

We also support any employee who wishes to undertake any course of study that will provide them with knowledge and experience that will benefit them and us.

In addition, we support the completion of part-time studies by staff members for a degree, post-graduate degree course or MBA etc., by allowing flexibility in work hours to accommodate lecture times, study, exams, and also by way of assistance with fees. However this is reviewed on a case by case basis.

Structured In-house Training

The following encapsulates technical training, management training, independence training and mentoring for all professional and administration staff.

For all new audit staff there is an orientation program covering the firm's audit approach, tools, policies and procedures. Lateral hires receive similar training appropriate to their role and level of experience. The firm supports a mentoring program where junior audit staff are allocated a mentor to assist in their technical, professional and career development.

Technical training is provided through a mixture of webinar and in-house sessions delivered by Partners, the Accounting and Audit Technical Director and senior staff and, where appropriate, sessions delivered by external presenters. All audit staff, including partners and managers, are required to attend our annual 2-day Audit Conference during which technical training on accounting, audit and quality is delivered. In addition, member firms are able to participate in the Australasian CA Training Group which provides audit, business services and supervisory and management skills training courses. Technical training courses are complemented by on-the-job coaching and mentoring by managers and partners, which provides invaluable learning to junior staff.

Independence and other quality control training is provided to Partners and staff annually.

Unstructured Training

As part of Nexia Australia's commitment to staff development, we offer training to help staff achieve professional and personal growth and greater job satisfaction. The firm provides unstructured training to staff through a number of different avenues:

- periodic peer group meetings take place that contain an element of training
- coaching and on-the-job training occurs while gaining experience from completing work
- practical issues identified while completing assignments are incorporated into on-the-job training.

External Courses and Seminars

As part of our performance appraisal process, we evaluate the training and development needs of all Partners and staff and encourage professional staff to attend approved external courses if their training and development needs are not addressed in our in-house training courses.

External Monitoring

The firms of Nexia Australia are subject to a program of scheduled internal and external monitoring of audit quality and independence compliance. Each firm is subject to an internal monitoring program, co-ordinated by the Risk and Quality Control Committee and led by the Nexia Australia Accounting & Audit Technical Director, at least annually.

The following table outlines the external monitoring under Australia's co-regulatory framework:

Firm	Date of Last Inspection
	Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC)	PCAOB	Chartered Accountants Australia and New Zealand
Nexia Perth	2016	N.A.	2011
Nexia Sydney	2013	2011	2003

Regular external monitoring of audit quality is required by legislation and professional requirements. Other than as described in this Transparency Report, users of this Report should not make any assumptions about the scope of, or findings from, any external inspections.

Statement of Effectiveness of Internal Quality Control System

Nexia Australia's systems of quality controls are designed to provide reasonable assurance that audit engagements comply with Australian Auditing and Assurance Standards, relevant ethical requirements, and applicable legal and regulatory requirements. The Nexia Australia Board considers the appropriateness and effectiveness of the internal quality control policies and procedures in place based on information provided to it including the findings from quality monitoring reviews and external reviews. Those programs provide evidence of our compliance with the application of Nexia's policies and methodologies, as well as areas for improvement where consistent application is not achieved.

Whilst recognising that no system of internal control can provide an absolute guarantee, the results of those monitoring programs provides the Board with a reasonable basis to conclude that, overall, our systems of quality control are operating effectively.

Basis of Remuneration

Nexia Perth

The basis for remuneration of the authorised audit company's Partners are as follows:

- Those audit Partners that hold an equity interest in Nexia Perth receive a market-based salary, together with a share of the Nexia Perth's profit from all divisions which is distributed on a percentage of equity held.
- Those audit Partners that do not hold an equity interest in Nexia Perth receive a market-based salary only.

Nexia Sydney

Profits of the firm are shared based on the equity share held by each Partner. Nexia Sydney is an equal remuneration partnership and therefore all Partners receive the same profit share once they achieve equity equality.

Bonuses, commissions or other performance adjustments are not paid to any Partner.

Because Nexia Sydney is an equal partnership, there is no benefit derived by a Partner to simply retain a client on their client list where the work could be better handled by another specifically experienced partner who knows the industry of the client. In this case the client receives the highest quality services from the most appropriate Partner.
